

Joanne Greenhalgh is an Associate Professor in the School of Sociology and Social Policy at the University of Leeds. Her research has focused on the design and evaluation of patient reported outcome measures (PROMs) and explored their application and use within routine clinical practice. Most recently, this has included an NIHR funded realist synthesis of PROMs feedback to support quality improvement and individual patient care.